ON AND ABOUT CAMPUS Visiting Dawson City on Sunday, July 19, on the occasion of the visit of the Duke of Edinburgh were 81 students, faculty, and friends of the Summer Session and Science Institute. Because of their number, they chartered two super 46 airplanes. Although the Queen was not present and although some of the students had to push the bus to get it mobile, they had an opportunity to see the Duke clearly and to see historic Dawson. Some immediately recognized and visited with Harry Lehman, a prominent figure in "The Yukoner," a film which the group had seen the previous evening. Such historic sites as the Museum and the Auditorium Theatre were visited and photographed by members of the group.

On Monday evening enthusiastic square dancers from the Summer Session group participated in folk dancing at Eagles Hall, a Golden Days' event, ably sponsored by Mrs. Bess Byrd from the University campus.

If John Mehler, University of Alaska librarian is absent from the library, one might find him happily strolling through the library section in the Bunnell Building (the new Main now under construction). In fact John has indicated that he might be persuaded to show interested students his future paradise.

Is the lady who was photographed several times on the Barrow bus by Lee Layfeldt a possible applicant for a teaching position in Barrow?

Residing in the feminine sanctuary, Wickersham Hall, for the next couple of days are four male regents of the University.

About a dozen summer session students report a "wonderful time" at the Pioneer Mug-Up at Eagles Hall, Wednesday evening. Food and meeting Old Timers were highlights of the evening.

Refusing to let periodic showers disturb them, some fifty students went on a field trip last Wednesday. Conducted by Dr. Skarland and Dr. Pewe, in connection with the geography class, they inspected evidences of disturbances caused by permafrost in the College area. At Sheep Creek, Dr. Pewe explained the mining process and the geology of that region. Photographers in the group climbed a melting ice wedge for pictures.

Although experiencing rain, the Wiegman's, returning from a week's motor trip to Haines and Port Chilkoot, report "a wonderful time." Mrs. Wiegman especially enjoyed a flight via Alaska Airways along the Lynn Canal to Skagway and Juneau

Charles Keim Addresses Pioneers and Others at Pedro Monument On Wednesday, July 22, Charles J. Keim, Associate Professor of Journalism, gave an inspiring address to Pioneers and others at the Felix Pedro Monument on the Steese Highway in commemoration of the achievement of the Pioneers as part of the Golden Days' activities. His theme is that Pedro Monument is a collective monument to Pioneers but deals with a specific person. There should be a monument to every pioneer, and these should be monuments in books. His proposal is that the university obtain the funds to interview and to photograph every living pioneer, and all placed in the University of Alaska library. It should be done fast because we are losing our Pioneers too quickly.
