

University of Alaska Southeast Soundings

Faculty and Staff Newsletter

Vol. 12, No. 10 • May 21, 1999

High school students attend recognition ceremonies in Egan Library.

JDHS students honored at UAS

Students from Juneau Douglas High School and their parents gathered on the Juneau campus for the annual Recognition Awards night. This is the eighth year, UAS has hosted the event. Chancellor Marshall Lind encouraged high school seniors to take summer classes on campus to get a head start on college in the fall and told other students to consider the Alaska Scholars program providing a scholarship to the top 10 percent of the graduates.

Greg Wagner presented $1500 UAS scholarships to three JDHS seniors, Martin Woodrow, Wendy Dau, and Heather Love. All three had already applied and been accepted at UAS before they knew about winning the scholarships. "They were surprised, grateful, excited," Wagner said.

Farewell to chancellor

A university/community reception will be held in Juneau for Marshall Lind at the Hanger of the Wharf Ballroom from 5-7 p.m. on June 23. Lind has accepted the position as UAF chancellor. The public farewell is an informal "Brats and Beer" goodbye.

Agreement signed

Juneau School Superintendent Mary Rubadeau and Chancellor Marshall Lind signed the College Connection agreement at ceremonies on the Juneau campus May 13. The College Connection program is designed to provide dual enrollment for able high school students who take university courses.

Holland America grant supports Ketchikan

A $30,000 grant from Holland American Line Westours to UAS will be used for the marine training center in Ketchikan. The grant was part of $200,000 in education grants made by the company to the university. Total donations by Holland America to the university statewide system is over $1.5 million according to Al Parrish, vice president of government relations.

Chancellor Lind accepts a gift from Ruth Danner of the Alumni Association.

Lind presides over last UAS commencement

Marshall Lind attended commencement ceremonies on all three UAS campuses for the last time as chancellor. He has accepted the position as UAF chancellor and will begin in a few months. In closing comments on the Juneau campus, Lind said he was proud of the progress made at UAS. "I leave this campus knowing the future is bright. Our programs are strong, our faculty is superlative, and our staff is committed. I wish each of you great success and extend my personal thanks for your support and assistance."

Conference begins May 24

Dynamic Leadership: Communicating for Success, a weeklong institute on communications skills will be held on the Juneau campus May 24 - 29.

The Masters of Public Administration program and the Certified Public Manager program are sponsoring the institute that has attracted about 45 participants from Alaska and Whitehorse, Yukon.

Participants will learn how to better communicate interpersonally and in groups, with co-workers, citizens, the media and elected leaders. The program will be held in Hendrickson 113 and other classrooms and will run from 8:30 - 4:30 daily. Luncheons will be held in the Lake Room.

UAS catalog

The 1999/2000 UAS catalog has been sent to the printer. The contract calls for the catalogs to be delivered to campus near the end of June.

Lifetime award given to Vickie Williams.

Vickie Williams honored

The Juneau Chapter of the Association of Government Accountants has awarded Vickie Williams the "Lifetime Achievement Award in Accounting." In selecting the recipient for the annual award the association looks at the candidate's accomplishments in the accounting field, service to community and service to the organization. Williams is a past board member and will be the president-elect next year. In addition, she provided one training seminar a year for the organization.

Nursing classes offered

UAS is making an effort to bring Weber State University to Sitka, Ketchikan and Juneau simultaneously for the 1999-2000 academic year. Weber State will offer training for licensed practical nurses (LPN). The Juneau campus is attempting to offer a number of prerequisites this summer in order that students can be admitted to Weber State for fall study in the LPN program. Prerequisites currently available this summer are Human Anatomy and Physiology, Nutrition (from UAF by correspondence), PSY 101, Mth 105, Engl 111.

Anatomy and Physiology 1 (Biology 111) runs June 1 to July 3 and meets Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. in Anderson 221. The lab meets Saturdays. Anatomy and Physiology 2 (Biology 112), runs July 6 - Aug. 7 and meets during the same hours. The tuition for these four credit classes is $420 plus a $50 lab fee. For information contact Gary Bowen 465-8773.

Josh Horst cleans up Bruce Gifford.

If you have UAS faculty, staff, or student news for Soundings, call 465-6530. The University of Alaska Southeast is an AA/EO educational institution.

Play helps with Ketchikan training

The David Mamet play "Oleanna" was presented at a sexual harassment training session at the Ketchikan Campus May 5. Student Robin Visel and English faculty Rod Landis played the parts of the hapless professor and the opportunistic student, who become trapped in a web of miscommunication and political agendas. Campus Director Mary Lou Madden said of the play, "It did what we wanted it to do, focused the discussion about the consequences of sexual harassment in the academic environment in an interesting way."

Faculty/staff news

Todd Turek, Juneau, has a teapot in the juried exhibition "Form & Function: Contemporary Ceramics" at the Mesa Arts Center in Mesa, Arizona.

Carol Liberty, Sitka, will be in Ecuador for three weeks in June studying Spanish, history, culture; and will attend the Panel of Accreditation Surveyors meeting in Chicago in mid-July; and have a 25th graduation reunion with the University of Illinois - Chicago 1974 HIM class.

Sandy Reichhoff, Juneau, is the new Professional Education Center administrative clerk. Most recently she has worked at Prince William Sound Community College in Valdez as an administrative assistant to the dean of instruction.

Todd Carlson, Juneau, is the housing graduate intern and arrived on April 15. He is in the middle of his graduate program at Oklahoma State. Carlson will coordinate most of the UAS conference stays this summer.

Linda Snyder, Juneau, reports the bookstore has new clothing and permanent staff receive a 10 percent discount on insignia items. There is also free gift wrapping.

JUNEAU CAMPUS CALENDAR

Tuesday, May 25

• Sysco ServeSafe class.

John Pugh "hangs around" Mary Elsner during the end of the semester picnic.

Staff Council plans

A region-wide raffle will be conducted July 1-Sept. 18 to raise funds for the Tuxedo Junction and Alumni scholarship funds. Staff Alliance is teaming with CoastAlaska public radio and holding a Travel Raffle. The $10 tickets will be sold in Juneau, Sitka, Ketchikan, Wrangell and Petersburg. Prizes include a trip for two to Mexico, a trip for two to San Francisco and a trip for two to Seattle. Tish Griffin is Juneau coordinator, Gail Klein is coordinating in Ketchikan and a Sitka coordinator is being sought by Griffin.

Spring picnic

Students on the Juneau campus raised money through the help of campus administrators. Dean of Faculty John Pugh was taped to a pillar by Egan Library and Dean of Students Bruce Gifford was the target of whipped cream pies. The money was to support student government.

Editor: Scott Foster

Graphic Artist: Amy Carroll