AJiC Fact Sheet

ANCHORAGE, AK—The 18-02 (June 2018) issue of the AJiC Fact Sheet has been released. This Fact Sheet presents data from the Alaska Department of Corrections’ annual report Offender Profile for the years 2002 through 2016 on the Parole and Probation population reported in Alaska.

- Among all demographics, the number of probationers/parolees increased from 2002 to 2012, then decreased through 2016.
- From 2002 to 2016 the trend is that the majority of probationers/parolees are in the age categories between 20 and 34 years old.
- The smallest number of probationers/parolees fall in the lowest and highest age groups: 19 and under and 60 plus.
- The decline in more recent years is attributed to the 20 to 29 and 40–44 age groups.
- The trend for both males and females increased from 2002 to 2012, then decreased through 2016.
- On average, Alaska Natives were 26.5% of the probation/parole population, Asian/Pacific Islander 4.2%, Black 9.0%, White 57.7%, and Other 1.6%.
- The Alaska Native and Black population represent a higher proportion in the probation/parole population than they do in the general Alaska population.
